Geneticist Developed

THE SCIENCE OF EPIGENETICS

With epigenetic technology, you have the power to change how your skin ages at the cellular level. We find ingredients that can affect gene behavior and switch certain genes on or off. The techniques we use in the lab measure and test gene function and observe how genes respond to certain topical ingredients.

Through this cutting-edge science, we can orchestrate ingredients that message the skin to “talk back” to your DNA, telling it when to turn on genes that act younger and healthier.

THE POWER OF PEPTIDES

As proven protein-building skincare ingredients with a multitude of studies to back up their efficacy, peptides are the foremost tool in our youth-building arsenal. At HydroPeptide, we take skin health and function seriously, so we always use peptides at their clinical levels and develop our formulas from a synergistic and proprietary perspective to maximize impact. Each unique peptide we select is supported by ingredients to aid, amplify, and optimize cell signaling, yielding visible, validated results.

When combined with the applied science of epigenetics, we’re working at the highest level of future-forward technology for maximum results.
